Company

Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company (MassMutual)

Established in 1851, MassMutual has been providing disability income insurance since 1965. Our mutual structure, along with our long-term business approach, has helped keep us strong. This strength means we will be here when you need us most.

Dividends

One of the many benefits of purchasing a disability income insurance policy from MassMutual is the opportunity to receive dividends.

From 2004–2015, MassMutual paid over $100 million in dividends on eligible participating disability income policies.¹

Currently, with the sale of a new policy, dividends are illustrated to become payable for a Radius ChoiceSM disability income insurance product after the 5th year (6th year for CA, FL and PR). Any dividends that may be allocated are projected to be paid in cash at a rate of 10% of premium annually.² Dividends are not guaranteed.

Radius ChoiceSM

By choosing a MassMutual Radius Choice disability income insurance policy, you have access to a strong base policy and some of the most comprehensive additional features and riders to help you customize an income protection plan that is as unique as you are.

Non-cancelable coverage

A Radius Choice disability income insurance policy from MassMutual is non-cancelable to age 65. This means that, as long as you pay your premiums on time, MassMutual will not cancel your coverage or increase your premium. Coverage additions will increase premiums.

Some companies offer “guaranteed renewable” policies where rates can be changed on a class basis. These types of policies are often less expensive, but there is no guarantee your premium will not increase in the future.

Definition of disability

It is important to obtain a disability income insurance policy that defines total disability in terms of your own occupation. Insurance companies have different definitions as to what qualifies as a total disability.

For instance, some companies will pay benefits if you cannot perform the main duties of your own occupation, while others will only pay benefits if you cannot perform the duties of any occupation.

A MassMutual Radius Choice disability income insurance policy provides total disability coverage for the occupation you work in. If you are disabled from your own occupation but are capable of working in a different occupation, you can still qualify for benefits provided you are not working.¹

¹ The definition of total disability varies in some states. Please contact your MassMutual financial professional for details.

² Riders are available at an additional cost except the Benefit Increase Rider which is available at no additional cost. State availability may vary.

Customization

MassMutual offers several optional riders² to customize your protection to meet your unique needs.

Protection during a partial disability

Partial disability benefits riders are designed to pay a benefit if you continue to work but, as a result of a sickness or injury, can no longer fully maintain your usual work schedule or perform some of the main duties of your occupation. Consequently, you are losing a portion of your income.

When choosing this type of income protection, you will want the method used to calculate your benefit during a partial disability to be as flexible as possible in order to provide you with the greatest opportunity to capture your highest earning years. This allows you to receive the greatest amount of benefit. With this in mind, MassMutual’s Extended Partial Disability Benefits Rider offers three options to calculate your benefit, something few other carriers offer.

MassMutual provides substantial flexibility when it comes to qualifying and calculating maximum benefit payments for partial disability.

Coverage to keep up with your income

If you expect your income to increase over time, your disability income insurance coverage should keep up with those increases. Radius Choice offers two options to protect your future earnings increases:

- Future Insurability Option Rider
- Benefit Increase Rider

Each of these options help make additional coverage available and keeps the disability income protection up to date by providing you with the ability to increase the monthly benefit amount without proof of medical insurability (you cannot be disabled, you must be working full time and financial underwriting is required). Simply put, as your income increases, you can elect to raise the amount of your monthly disability coverage to more closely align with your current salary.

Although these riders provide additional coverage opportunities, there are several important differences, so be sure to consult your financial professional about which option is right for you.

Student Loan Rider – Coverage for college debt

If you are a recent college graduate, you may be beginning your career with sizable student loan debt. Defaulting on your loan due to a disability this early into your career may affect your credit well into the future.

Through the Student Loan Rider, you can help protect your ability to continue your student loan payments in the event of a total disability. It can be an excellent way to help secure your future and your credit. The Student Loan Rider pays a monthly benefit during periods of eligible Total Disability for the purpose of reimbursing your student loan debt. Documentation will be required at time of claim to verify the benefit amount to be paid under the Rider.

Before deciding whether to purchase the Student Loan Rider, you should consider any provisions of your student loan(s) that may allow for deferment, discharge or forgiveness of the debt, for example: discharge for total disability, public service loan forgiveness, teacher loan forgiveness or income-driven repayment.

RetireGuard®

Don't let a disability come between you and your retirement. At MassMutual, we have a way to help you continue saving for retirement if you become too sick or hurt to work. And while it's not a retirement plan, nor a substitute for one, it can help replace an amount equal to the contributions that would have been made to your defined contribution retirement plan if you had not become disabled.

When insured with RetireGuard, during a period of total disability, we will pay benefits into an irrevocable trust that offers different investment options so that you can select the option that best meets your retirement goals. The trustee, The MassMutual Trust Company, FSB, will invest (at your direction) the benefits received until retirement age, as defined in the trust.^{1,2} Trust proceeds are then distributed to you to help supplement your retirement benefits.

Cost

An economical approach to funding the protection you need.

You may be ready to protect your future income but need a more economical approach to put a policy in place now. Consider graded premium.¹

Graded premium is a payment structure under which the initial premiums are less than a level premium structure for the early years of the policy. These premiums gradually increase each year, until they become level at age 50 for the duration of the policy. Or you can choose, up until you reach age 40, to convert to a level premium structure. Other carriers typically offer graded premiums that increase up to age 65.

Over the life of the policy, the cumulative premium for the graded premium structure may be more than if the policy were issued with a level premium structure.

$3,386,788,000 in total disability income benefits paid to MassMutual policyowners from 2001–2015.²

Your future is worth it. It's time to help keep it a bright one. Let MassMutual help you get there.
